To believe or not to believe

◐ Debate has caused online stir among atheists
◐ Hitchens' cancer diagnosis in June has fuelled interest in hearing his perspective, organizer says

A former British prime minister will pit his faith against the atheism of a prominent journalist as both try to sway the passions of a Toronto crowd on whether religion is a force for good in the world.

The Friday evening debate between Tony Blair, a Catholic convert, and Christopher Hitchens, who has refused to "repent" and embrace religion despite being stricken with late-stage esophageal cancer, is sold out.

The question to be argued before some 2,600 audience members is a chance to hear two important voices debate religion's impact in an era of globalization, said moderator Rudyard Griffiths.

"With Tony Blair, we've got someone who has wielded power at the highest levels but also has an enduring belief that faith can make the world a better place," said Griffiths.

"In Christopher Hitchens, arguably the world's most prominent atheist and someone who in many ways has dedicated his intellectual life, his writing, to making the case for why he thinks religion poisons everything."

When the event, part of the Munk Debates, was announced last month, Blair said he had a "formidable opponent" in the British-born turned American journalist, author and Vanity Fair columnist.

Blair's Faith Foundation, created in 2008, promotes understanding between religions. His speaking fee — which Griffiths wouldn't divulge — will be donated to his foundation.

Votes will be taken at the beginning and end of the debate Friday at Roy Thomson Hall to determine who had the more convincing argument. Results will be posted on the Munk Debates website.

DARREN CALABRESE/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Erika Mendieta arrives in court Thursday. Defence lawyers have requested Mendieta, who is charged with second-degree murder in the death of her two-year-old daughter, be tried by judge alone after a Crown lawyer's behaviour concerned jurors to the point where the judge is prepared to declare a mistrial.

Face it, lawyer was being human: Crown

Facial expressions of Crown attorney not involved in murder trial set into motion a sequence of events that could lead to mistrial ◐ Crown, defence trying to bring case before judge alone

A Crown lawyer whose behaviour so distracted jurors that the judge is prepared to declare a mistrial is a dedicated public servant who simply "got caught up in being a human being," a Toronto court heard Thursday.

Senior Crown attorney Frank Armstrong accused "overzealous" reporters of damaging Alexander's reputation and that of another prosecutor in the murder case.

"Honourable members of the bar are being maligned by an overzealous press," said Armstrong, who had not previously appeared in court to argue the case.

The trial was knocked off the rails last week when the jury asked the judge to remove a man sitting in the front row for making what they called "strange faces."

The jury's note even included a diagram that identified where he was sitting.

"We find him very distracting and he is making strange faces all the time," the jury wrote.

"We feel very uncomfortable with him."

"To malign people like this in the media is unacceptable."
SENIOR CROWN ATTORNEY FRANK ARMSTRONG

The man turned out to be Alexander, a Crown who wasn't involved in the current trial but had previously prosecuted Erika Mendieta on charges of killing her two-year-old daughter Emmily. That trial ended in a hung jury.

Justice Nola Garton dismissed the jury Monday and was prepared to declare a mistrial.

However, both the defence and prosecution say they want to proceed with just a judge, which could salvage the case.

As both sides made their arguments in court Thursday, Armstrong suddenly launched into a passionate defence of his Crown colleagues and what he perceived to be a public attack on their professional reputations.

Say what you will about Alexander, even call him a "doofus" as some have already done, Armstrong said.

"He was a dedicated public servant who got caught up in being a human being," he said.

He also defended Crown attorney Allison MacPherson, one of the lawyers prosecuting the case.

It's been reported that MacPherson looked back several times at Alexander throughout her cross-examination of Mendieta and spoke to him during breaks.

News in brief

Man shot dead in east end

VIOLENCE. Toronto police say the city's fourth gun-related death in a week is a 45-year-old man who was gunned down in east-end Toronto.

Police say Carl Cole, of Toronto, died after being shot several times Wednesday evening in a parking lot at 65 Greenbrae Circ. Investigators believe the suspects fled in the victim's silver 2006 Chrysler 300.

No punishment for G20 police despite injuries

SIU investigated six complaints from people treated for facial, arm, shoulder, nose or finger fractures

Police officers will face no punishment in the cases of six people who were left with various facial and bone fractures from G20 protests.

Ontario's Special Investigations Unit looked into the complaints from six people, who allege police officers caused their injuries. In several cases the SIU did not dispute that officers probably used excessive force, but since individual officers could not be identified, no one could be sanctioned.

When police started to advance on a June 26 demonstration at the Ontario legislature people were rushing away when a young woman fell to the ground, the SIU report stated. Brendan Latimer, 19, stopped to help her and was knocked over and trampled by fleeing protesters. Police officers arrested him and Latimer said he was hit in the face by one of them. He was treated in hospital for a facial fracture.

The SIU concluded there are "reasonable grounds" to believe an officer used excessive force, but the officer who struck Latimer could not be identified.

In some of the other cases several officers declined to be interviewed for the SIU investigations, as is their right. That left the SIU in several cases unable to determine a specific officer at fault.

OPP spent $56M, say figures

The Ontario Provincial Police spent at least $56 million for security at the G8 and G20 summits, including $1.4 million on gas masks, $24,000 for bug jackets, $272,000 for portable toilets and nearly $9 million on telecom hardware.

OPP officers made $25.3 million in salary, including $15.4 million in overtime, according to the partial accounting. OPP employee expenses for meals, travel and mileage added another $991,000 to the bill for the two summits.

Minister blasts Tories' lack of election plan

Duncan said Mike Harris had 'guts' to release platform a year before vote Said Hudak should do likewise

Ontario's Liberal government went on the offensive Thursday, gearing up into full campaign mode even though the provincial election isn't until next October.

The election issue, according to Finance Minister Dwight Duncan, is energy and what he says is the Progressive Conservatives' lack of credibility on the issue.

The Tory experiments with opening the electricity market to competition and then freezing rates left Ontario struggling just to keep the lights on after they were defeated in 2003, said Duncan, who claimed the Opposition doesn't have a plan for the future.

NATHAN DENETTE/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Ontario Finance Minister Dwight Duncan

"It's the beginning of an election and it's about time the Opposition said where they stand," said Duncan.

"(Opposition Leader Tim) Hudak's hiding out, distorting facts."

The Liberals released their $87-billion, long term electricity plan this week, showing rates will jump 46 per cent in the next five years as the province turns off coal-fired generation, builds new nuclear reactors and moves to more green energy sources.

It's the Liberals who are in power, so it's their energy plan that should be debated, said Opposition energy critic John Yakabuski.

"It's clear that he doesn't want to talk about their plan," said Yakabuski.

Damian Giovanni Inglese of Toronto is one of six young aboriginal writers who will receive a James Bartleman Aboriginal Youth Creative Writing Award on Friday at Queen's Park.

Giovanni Inglese, 13, wrote about his younger sister's struggles with a learning disability, a poem about isolation in a small community, a collection of poems about family members and a poem about aboriginal youth transitioning from northern communities to urban centres.

The Bartleman awards give Aboriginal youth an opportunity to showcase their creative writing abilities.

BLACK FRIDAY SHOPPING

THE EARLY BIRD GETS THE BARGAINS

If you're heading over the border to get a head start on Christmas shopping this weekend, make sure you get on the road early.

Make that really early.

Lew Holloway, the general manager of the Niagara Falls Bridge Commission, recommends getting to the bridge before 7 a.m. to avoid waiting.

"If I'm going into the States on a Thursday or Friday I'd certainly get there early in the morning," he says.

The alternative is crossing in the evening, he says, after 5 p.m.

And coming home?

Same thing. Fill that thermos with coffee and leave as early as you can.

The longest waits to get back into Canada on Black Friday — the biggest U.S. shopping day of the year — are between and 1 p.m. and 11 p.m., says the Canada Border Services Agency.

▶ Images of dancers posted on a news blog have sparked a debate over privacy and ethical issues related to photography.

Wanna peep? Pay up

Club owner says many dancers try to keep their occupation under wraps ◐ Anonymity now impossible because photos show their faces

There will be no more free shows on the roof of a Toronto strip club after pictures of the scantily clad dancers surfaced online.

Dancers at the Zanzibar Tavern regularly took breaks on the club's roof while still in their work outfits. A Ryerson University librarian, Brian Cameron, took photos of the women from his office window and published them Wednesday on Torontoist, a local news blog.

The club's owner, Allen Cooper, says the dancers feel their privacy has been violated.

Most of the photos were taken down from the site Thursday.

A festive sendoff for Movember

The Humber College volunteer and fundraising management course and Movember Canada will hold a wrap party especially for students in the Toronto area.

The party will be held Monday at the El Mocambo, 464 Spadina Ave. from 8 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

The project is a class program. The class, a group of 41 postgraduate students, has raised $17,834 thus far, and say they're hoping to raise more during the event.

The event is designed as a thank you to all GTA students who participated in this year's Movember campaign by either growing a Mo or donating to the cause. Organizers say it's an opportunity to celebrate the successes and accomplishments of students.

▶ City officials say Toronto is ready to handle the heavier-than-usual snowfall expected this season.

No need to call in the army this time

City has a new snow-disposal site in Etobicoke Also, two new snow melters and new sanding equipment

With 600 snow plows, 300 sidewalk plows, 200 salt trucks and an army of 1,600 staff, the city can handle the heavier-than-usual amount of snow expected this winter, says Gary Welsh, Toronto's general manager of transportation services.

The snow clearing budget of $85 million is about the same as last season and while some costs such as wages have gone up, with mayor-elect Rob Ford preaching austerity, Welsh says efficiencies have been found.

"We've redesigned some of our plow routes, we're making it more efficient to spread salt and we're actually trying to use less salt, so we think there's efficiencies that we've gained that will satisfy the mayor," said Welsh.

"The level of service has improved, and at the same time we've saved money."

An average Toronto winter brings about 130 centimetres of snowfall.

$20M

If it's a particularly snowy winter, there is a reserve fund of about $20 million available from winters like last season, when only about 50 cm of snow fell, resulting in budget savings.

"We have sufficient money now (such that) if we do get a very extreme winter we have a winter-maintenance reserve available so that we can actually tap into that without actually asking council for additional funds," he said.

Contractors will be expected to get out in a more timely manner and complete their routes more quickly, while property owners are still required by bylaw to clear the snow off sidewalks.

Quaker recalls bars due to nuts

The Canadian Food Inspection Agency and Quaker Canada are warning people with peanut allergies not to consume certain Quaker brand Chewy Granola Bars Value Packs.

The affected packs may have been mispacked with Quaker brand Dipps granola bars that contain peanuts.

The CFIA says the individual bars within the value packs are correctly labelled and declare peanuts where present.

The affected product is the 364-gram Quaker brand Chewy Granola Bars Value Pack containing 14 bars, and Quaker is voluntarily recalling it from the marketplace.

Ont. puts the D in delisted

Ontario is delisting vitamin D testing for most of the population as of Dec. 1.

People with conditions such as osteoporosis, rickets, osteopenia, malabsorption syndromes and renal disease will continue to have the test covered.

In five years, vitamin D tests in Ontario skyrocketed from 29,000 tests in 2004 to 700,000 in 2009.

The Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care announced their intention to delist the test in the summer, but posted formal notice to their website this week.

Ontario's move puts it in line with several other provinces that have made similar moves.

Oh Danny boy, 'tis you must go

N.L. premier resigns Said recent $6.2B deal to develop Lower Churchill hydroelectric project told him it was time Won strong majorities in '03, '07

PAUL DALY/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Standing in front of his cabinet and other party members, Newfoundland and Labrador Premier Danny Williams announces his resignation in the lobby of the Confederation Building in St. John's on Thursday.

As political surprises go, news that Premier Danny Williams is quitting politics was a game-changing blockbuster that shook Newfoundland and Labrador far beyond the corridors of power.

The rhetorical pugilist whose popularity ratings are the envy of other leaders across Canada said he's stepping down next Friday to pursue undisclosed business interests.

Williams fought tears as he stood before a packed news conference Thursday.

"Orson Welles once said that if you want a happy ending, you need to know when to end your story. So I've called you here today to announce the end of my story as the ninth premier of Newfoundland and Labrador." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Danny vs. Paul

Danny Williams, in his own words, during one of the many combative moments that defined his seven-year stint as premier of Newfoundland and Labrador:

- "There's a point where people who don't respect Newfoundlanders and Labradorians, and who don't treat us with respect, will get it back in spades from me," Williams said after appearing on CNN's Larry King Live in March 2006 to oppose ex-Beatle Paul McCartney's anti-seal-hunt views.
- "I certainly wasn't going to allow the McCartneys to dominate that interview."

They said it...

PREMIERS REACT TO THE RESIGNATION

RENE JOHNSTON/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Premier Dalton McGuinty

Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty:

"Through our work together over the years, I have come to know and admire Danny's passion, pride and persistence. Danny's passion is public service. Though he has had ample success in the world of business, it is public service that draws him, excites him and energizes him. His province and our country are better, today, for that service."

Quebec Premier Jean Charest:

"He has been an extraordinary leader for the province."

N. Korean attack fuels provocation

Despite warnings, U.S. and S. Korea are planning military drills involving a nuclear-powered U.S. aircraft carrier

South Korea's president ordered more troops to a front-line island and dumped his defence minister Thursday as the country grappled with lapses in its response to a deadly North Korean artillery strike.

In scenes reminiscent of the Korean War 60 years ago, dazed residents of Yeonpyeong island foraged through blackened rubble for pieces of their lives and lugged possessions down eerily deserted streets strewn with bent metal after Tuesday's hail of artillery. Four South Koreans were killed.

Palin's gaffe

Sarah Palin is drawing criticism from around the world after declaring that the United States has to stand with "our North Korean allies."

- Palin's gaffe, made Wednesday during an interview on Glenn Beck's syndicated radio show, was quickly corrected by her host.
- But it drew immediate fire from liberal bloggers, who cited it as an example of the 2008 vice-presidential candidate's lack of foreign policy expertise.

In this fairy tale, Cameron is Dopey

British Prime Minister David Cameron was under fire Thursday after repeating a joke likening the speaker of Parliament to one of Snow White's Seven Dwarfs.

Britain's Press Association news agency said Cameron told journalists at a press lunch about the time Health Minister Simon Burns backed into Speaker John Bercow's car.

When Bercow said he was not happy, Cameron said Burns retorted: "So which one are you?"

Bercow stands about 5-foot-6.

The Walking with Giants Foundation charity, which helps people with restricted growth, said Cameron's gibe was "downright appalling."

Its co-founder, John Connerty, said it was "totally unacceptable" to have "the most influential person in the country making distasteful references about a person's lack of height."

Cameron's office said his "lighthearted comments" were not meant to offend.

The speaker's wife, Sally Bercow, hit back on Twitter, writing: "If Mr. B.'s a dwarf then I'm Snow White. And David Cameron is definitely Dopey."

AND THEN THERE WAS ONE.

Ontario is now the only province in Canada where dental assistants are not a regulated health profession. This means that dentists can hire people without formal education to do the work of dental assistants. Dental assistants take radiographs, are responsible for infection control and may perform other intra-oral duties.

The Ontario Dental Assistants Association (ODAA), the certifying body for Ontario dental assistants feels this is a matter of public safety. Dental patients have the right to know that everyone working in a dental office is educated and formally trained.

The Ontario government will not review the ODAA's request for regulation until 2013. Meanwhile, for the good of your oral health and safety, ask if your dentist hires only ODAA certified dental assistants.

SUPREME COURT

Refugees can be sent back, court rules

Refugee status doesn't necessarily last forever and, in some cases, refugees can be extradited back to the countries from which they fled, the Supreme Court of Canada said Thursday.

People can be sent back to countries which have reformed and which no longer persecute people on racial, religious or other grounds, it ruled.

The court granted reprieves to a Hungarian couple and a Romanian man from extradition orders against them. But the cases were sent back to Justice Minister Rob Nicholson for reconsideration. The individuals are of Roma extraction, who fled to Canada and were granted refugee status because of a well-founded fear of persecution due to their ethnic origin. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada to boycott racism summit: Kenney

FRED CHARTRAND/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Citizenship and Immigration Minister Jason Kenney announces Thursday that Canada will not participate in the upcoming Durban Conference.

Canada led a boycott of Durban II in Geneva last year, where Iran's president railed against Israel

Canada will not attend a United Nations conference on racism next year, Immigration Minister Jason Kenney said Thursday.

"Our government has lost faith in the Durban process," Kenney told a news conference. "Canada is clearly committed to the fight against racism, but the Durban process commemorates an agenda that actually promotes racism rather than combats it."

The New York conference next September, dubbed "Durban III," is intended to mark the 10th anniversary of the 2001 meeting in South Africa aimed at defeating racism.

Canada and other countries walked out of that conference after Iran and several countries began ganging up on Israel.

"Canada will not participate in this charade. We will not lend our good name to this Durban hatefest."

JASON KENNEY

The conference produced the Durban Declaration and Programme of Action. The document raises 122 issues, among them "concern about the plight of the Palestinian people under foreign occupation." It "recognizes the inalienable right of the Palestinian people to self-determination and the right to an independent state." But most offensive to Canada and other countries were speeches laced with anti-Israeli rhetoric.

Before clearing a blocked sewer service line outside a house or building call Ontario One Call

Is the sewer service line beyond the outside wall of your home or building blocked? If so, it is extremely important that you make sure no natural gas line intersects the sewer line before attempting to clear it. Using rotating or water jetting equipment to clear a blocked sewer line can damage a natural gas line and cause a serious gas leak. Ontario One Call offers free Natural Gas Sewer Safety Inspections on behalf of Enbridge. Inspections are offered throughout the Enbridge Gas Distribution service area, even if you are not a natural gas customer.

Marisela and Carlos will be the first couple in Latin America to get hitched at the famous fast-food chain

JOSÉ LEBEÑA
@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN MONTERREY

On Friday, Marisela and Carlos will seal their love with a Big Mac.

The duo are set to become the first couple to marry in a McDonald's in Latin America. Seventy friends and loved ones will crowd into the restaurant in Nuevo León, Mexico to watch the ceremony.

When Marisela Matienzo used to eat with her friends at a local McDonald's in Monterrey, she never imagined she would be married in the same place. Marisela and Carlos met in university 10 years ago. After finishing their studies, and after she returned from Europe, they met again and they began to travel together; later, he popped the all-important question.

How did you get the idea?

We were in India for three weeks, and we saw unpleasant habits at the table. ... We were in shock. That made us feel that these restaurants are like our home.

What will guests say?

There are still some who don't believe we are getting married at McDonald's. There were guests who thought it was a joke. Our parents have already resigned to the fact.

What wedding preparations have you made?

I (Marisela) am in charge of co-ordinating everything, but Carlos is organizing the box designs and decoration for our special Happy Meal that will contain a personalized wedding gift. The floral arrangements will consist of straws and paper wrapped around burgers.

METRO WORLD NEWS

▶ Marisela and Carlos

Catering

- The wedding's three-course menu features chips and chicken nuggets for starters, burgers and fries for the main course, and pies and ice cream for dessert.
- There will be no alcohol served at the wedding, since the restaurant is not licensed.
- The couple plans to hold a religious ceremony on April 9 in the city of Santiago de Querétaro.

▶ Cambodia's Prime Minister Hun Sen and his wife Bun Rany weep Thursday during a Buddhist ceremony for the stampede victims.

Cambodia PM weeps

Prime Minister Hun Sen described the stampede as the biggest tragedy since the communist Khmer Rouge's reign of terror, which killed an estimated 1.7M people

Cambodia's prime minister cried as he lit candles and incense to mourn the hundreds who were trampled to death this week in a riverside stampede.

Flags flew at half staff across the country, and bars, karaoke parlours and nightclubs shut down on the official day of mourning for the tragedy.

A government investigation has found that thousands of revellers cramming a suspension bridge over the Bassac river panicked as it began to sway under their weight. Some shouted that the structure was going to collapse, the crowd pushed and heaved, setting off the stampede. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three men charged in theft of Nazi death camp sign

Polish prosecutors filed charges Thursday against a Swede with neo-Nazi ties and two Poles acting for profit and said all three had confessed to the brazen theft of the notorious "Arbeit Macht Frei" sign from the gates of the Nazi's Auschwitz death camp last year.

They also announced that a second Swede, whose name was not released, is suspected of masterminding the robbery and that investigators in Sweden will now work to shed light on his role, of which the public has so far known nothing.

Prosecutors filed the charges Thursday with a court in Krakow. They said the three had pleaded guilty and agreed to prison terms of about two and a half years each. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"In our investigation we have uncovered evidence indicating the possibility that a Swedish citizen on Sweden's territory might have instigated another Swedish citizen to commit a crime connected with the theft of the 'Arbeit Macht Frei' sign."

An Important Notice Regarding Your Personal Health

The Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care (MOHLTC) is working with Ontario's health care providers to build a system in which your health care provider will have improved access to your personal health information including your laboratory test results.

The collection, use and disclosure of your personal health information are subject to the Personal Health Information Protection Act (PHIPA) and this notice is being issued to provide you with information to help you to decide whether or not you want to share your information. The ministry is also subject to PHIPA.

For All Ontarians

Currently, laboratories submit your test results back to the health care provider who ordered the test(s) and any other practitioner copied on a requisition form. However, there may be several other health care providers involved in your care, who would not have access to your laboratory test information. The Ontario Laboratory Information System (OLIS) is an electronic system that will allow hospital and community laboratories to share your lab test results with health care providers, and will be a component of the Electronic Health Record.

As of mid-December 2010, the ministry will assume custody and control of patients' laboratory test information that is submitted to and stored in OLIS. MOHLTC will then begin providing your test results to eHealth Ontario, to enable eHealth Ontario to share this information electronically with your health care providers. eHealth Ontario is the public agency that is working to deliver a secure and private electronic health care system for all Ontarians. As an agent of MOHLTC, eHealth Ontario can share this information electronically with any health care provider who delivers your health care in Ontario. MOHLTC will use and disclose your information only as permitted by law, and work to ensure that your information is secure and your privacy is respected.

Protecting Your Privacy

Your privacy is important. As a patient, you can withdraw or reinstate your consent for MOHLTC and/or health care providers who have not ordered your laboratory tests to access your laboratory test information contained in OLIS. If you choose to withdraw your consent, MOHLTC and/or health care providers who have not ordered your laboratory tests will not have access to this information through OLIS. Choosing to withdraw your consent will in no way affect your relationship with your health care provider(s), who will continue to provide care to you.

Deciding Not to Share Your Information

If you wish to withdraw or reinstate consent for MOHLTC or health care providers to access your test results submitted to OLIS, or for more information about this public notice, please call 1-800-291-1406 (TTY: 1-800-268-7095). For more information on OLIS, visit ontario.ca/yourhealthprivacy.

For Ontarians Living with Diabetes

There are three key tests that people living with diabetes should receive on a regular basis. They are:

- the HbA1C blood glucose control test, which patients should receive at least every six months;
- the LDL-C cholesterol test, which patients should receive every year, and
- a retinal eye exam, which patients should receive every two years.

The Diabetes Testing Report was created to keep your primary care provider (physician or nurse practitioner) informed of when you last had each of these three tests.

People living with diabetes who are tested regularly are better able to manage their diabetes and avoid complications. The Report will help you and your primary care provider better manage your diabetes care by reminding him or her if you are overdue for an HbA1C test, LDL-C test, or retinal eye exam, and it will encourage you and your primary care provider to talk about your diabetes care.

Protecting Your Privacy

In order to create the Diabetes Testing Report, your primary care provider may share personal health information, including your name, health number and date of birth, with the MOHLTC. He or she will also confirm whether you have diabetes. In response, the MOHLTC will share the most recent dates of each of the three tests with your provider. Your privacy is important, however, and you are not required to have your information included in this report.

Deciding Not to Share Your Information

You may decide that you do not want your primary care provider to disclose your information to the MOHLTC, and that you do not wish to be included in your provider's Diabetes Testing Reports. If you choose to withhold or withdraw your consent, this will in no way affect your relationship with your health care provider and he or she will continue to provide care to you.

If you wish to withhold or withdraw your consent to having your information disclosed by your primary care provider and in any Diabetes Testing Reports that MOHLTC sends to your primary care provider, call 1-800-291-1405 (TTY: 1-800-387-5559). If you withheld or withdrew your consent to have your information included on the Diabetes Testing Report in the Spring of 2010, you do not need to withhold or withdraw your consent again; if you wish to reinstate your consent, you can do so by calling the number above.

For more information about the collection, use and disclosure of your personal health information for the purposes of the Diabetes Testing Report, call the numbers listed above. For more information about diabetes, visit ontario.ca/diabetes.

Was free trip an error or an early Christmas gift?

Some deal-hunters took advantage of $300 travel discount just to rack up frequent flyer miles

It was either a generous early Christmas gift for scores of online shoppers or a massive mistake that could cost Expedia.ca big time.

Thanks to the online travel company, Colin Campbell will be doing his last-minute shopping in New York City this year and flying back into Toronto just in time for Christmas Eve. It wasn't his plan, but when Expedia.ca offered him a return flight and a few days in a hotel for just $40 — all taxes included — how could he possibly refuse?

Expedia won't say whether the seemingly too-good-to-be-true offer that Campbell and other web surfers took advantage of last weekend — which in some cases actually paid travellers to fly — was the result of a pricing error.

$34
Lindsey Kerluke of Vancouver was able to book a trip to Las Vegas for just $34. It didn't take much arm twisting to get his brother and a handful of friends to tag along.

The promotion offered a $300 discount off a flight and hotel package to Cancun, Las Vegas, New York or Riviera Maya.

It didn't take long for Canadian web surfers to find packages for just over $300, making the trip almost free after the discount.

"I wasn't sure if it was a mistake or not but I did get an email from Expedia saying everything was booked. But I still wasn't sure," Campbell said.

While there was a limit of only one $300 discount per booking, there was no limit on how many separate discounted bookings could be made per person.

And some U.S. users actually made a tiny bit of money on the deal after the exchange rate.

Tackle. Deficit

Sacrifice to succeed, Canada

Canadian governments need to make tough decisions to balance their budgets and improve productivity levels, the head of the TD Bank said Thursday.
Ed Clark, chief executive of TD, said the federal government's timeline to eliminate its $56-billion deficit in five years is "about right."
"I believe Canada is uniquely positioned to achieve a permanent competitive advantage relative to other countries if we do, in fact, focus on tackling the longer-term issues."
Clark said Canada's stronger performance than many other countries shouldn't leave it complacent about longer-term issues, adding that the country must improve its weak productivity and address the pressing impact an aging population will have on health-care spending.
He said taxes could be cut to help lower income Canadians, who will bear the brunt of the burden of the slow recovery.

Hostilities, debt worries stunt market growth

U.S. markets close early Friday afternoon Trading expected to remain slow for U.S. Thanksgiving

The Toronto stock market advanced on higher commodity prices Thursday, but not enough to make up for ground lost earlier this week amid worries over European debt and hostilities between the Koreas.

Thursday saw low volumes of overall trading, with little direction coming from south of the border where markets were shuttered for U.S. Thanksgiving. The financial and information technology sectors led TSX advancers, while mining stocks fell into the red.

Trading is typically light in Toronto when the major New York markets are closed and the TSX tends to remain flat, said Garey Aitken, director of equity research at Bissett Investments in Calgary.

Market moment

PRICES AS OF 5 P.M. THURSDAY

DOLLAR	Natural Gas and Gold
99.04¢ US 0.14¢ US	Closed for U.S. holiday
OIL	TSX
$84.18 US 32¢ US	2,049.01 25.43

But Thursday's slight rise was a continuation of a more positive trend that was interrupted earlier this week by renewed concerns over European debt and tensions between the Koreas, he added.

"Once (those recent events) move away from the headlines, the trend is for equity markets to move higher," Aitken said.

"We saw that in U.S. equity market trade (Wednesday) before U.S. Thanksgiving, on better than expected employment numbers, so what we're seeing here is just a follow through in Canada."

DANIEL OCHOA DE OLZA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ A broker works at the Stock Exchange in Madrid Thursday. Investors kept pressure on Portugal and Spain Thursday, as fears that they could be the European debt crisis' next victims pushed borrowing costs to near record levels.

Debt crisis won't collapse euro: EU

Foreign Ministers of France and Germany say they are confident their nations will be able to assist Ireland quickly

The head of the EU's bailout fund says there's no chance that the debt crisis will cause the collapse of the 16-nation euro currency, even if other countries like Portugal follow Greece and Ireland in asking for a bailout.

Klaus Regling said in comments printed in Germany's Bild newspaper Thursday that while the euro could slip in value, the problems afflicting its weakest members are not putting the common currency in jeopardy.

"There's zero danger," he says. "No country will voluntarily give up the euro — for weaker countries that would be economic suicide, likewise for the stronger countries."

The common currency has been hit hard recently by Ireland's request for financial aid and fears Portugal or Spain could be next in line for a bailout.

Experts say bailing out Spain — which is five times larger than any of the other three — would test its limits. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Marlene Cook's Woofstock runs all weekend at Exhibition Place. Register at winterwoofstock.com, or simply leash up and pop by with your furry friends.

5 MINUTES WITH: MARLENE COOK

We talk barks, poop and puppies in Santa hats with the grand dame of North America's largest dog day, Woofstock.

Where did the idea for Woofstock originate?
I don't want to use the cliché but my dogs are part of the family. However, in Ontario, the laws are really strict. In Paris you can take your dog to a fancy eatery, and in Chicago they have a thing called a pug crawl where people can take their pugs to the bar. So we're trying to give an outing for you and your dog.
What are some of the highlights at this weekend's Winter Woofstock?
This year we're giving away a doggie treadmill. And as always, we'll have tons of vendors with vitamins, supplements, creams and grooming products. Personally, I'm looking forward to the running of the pugs.
What do you think it is about a dog in clothes that sends people into squealing paroxysms of delight?
A lot of dogs are just really cute to begin with, but usually the outfits are adorable. In the summer they'll have little cherries on them, or a sundress. For Christmas it's going to be crazy because people are going to be dressing their dogs as reindeer, Santas. We've ordered 100 Santa hats with beards. Just imagine it! The hat's OK, but putting the little beard on the dog is too funny.
How would you respond to people like Jay Leno who consider dressing up your animals akin to abuse?
Most people are not dog people who say that sort of thing. I think that if they had a dog and they loved the dog and it was Christmas, I would be very surprised if they wouldn't do it. I think that they don't embrace the doggy experience.
Can there be a danger in doting too much on your pet?
I think that there are always people that go to extremes, but the only thing the dog is really getting is more love or attention.
What are some of the things that can happen in a room full of that many dogs?
Some of them can growl at each other but I think most people know the cues. The only thing that I can see is we may have a few things to pick up on the carpet.

Chocolate food fight

Worth mentioning

BELGIUM. There is no such thing as "pure chocolate," the EU high court has ruled, ending an EU-Italy food fight over chocolate labels. The ruling by the Court of Justice of the European Union voided an Italian law that recognizes some delicacies as "pure chocolate."

The court said if a product is made from 100 per cent cocoa butter, that fact must be listed on the ingredients table only. It also said the EU's 1999 chocolate labelling rules make no room for a "pure chocolate" reference like the one Italy enacted.

Once vegetable fats are included in the production of chocolate — a popular practice in some EU nations, notably Britain — then the label must say, "contains vegetable fats in addition to cocoa butter," the court said.

The EU labeling rules took effect in 1999 after a lively debate pitting countries like Britain — where chocolate usually contains vegetable fat substitutes — against purists like Belgium, Italy and others, where traditionalist chocolate makers use only cocoa butter.

The European Commission had sued Italy, saying the EU law aims to inform consumers in a neutral way about the quality of chocolate on the basis of its ingredients.

Metro Minute at Winter Woofstock

It's good to be a dog this weekend, and not just because it means you're adorable and everyone loves you and you're a seriously efficient chick magnet machine.

No, my furry friends. It's good to be you because Winter Woofstock is happening at the Direct Energy Centre.

Just look at the tail waggingly-exciting things planned for you and your human: There are canine fashion shows, a Wiener Dog Race, tons of delicious doggy treats, and a VIP Lounge where you can rest your weary paws after a long day of humping legs.

So get on your hind legs, head to the computer, and leave the winterwoofstock.com page open for your owner.

DO YOU THINK AIRPORT SECURITY RULES ARE TOO EXCESSIVE? WHY OR WHY NOT?

Emma Daniel
TORONTO
Yes, I think airport security rules are too excessive. I'm disgusted by the idea of strangers touching me.

Travis Byrne
TORONTO
No, I don't think the rules are too excessive. We have the technology, so it's better to be safe than sorry.

Consult your Ford of Canada dealer for details including applicable warranty coverage. • Program in effect from Oct. 1/10, to Jan. 3/11 (the "Program Period"). To qualify for a Ford Recycle Your Ride Program ("RYR") rebate ("Rebate(s)"), customer must qualify for and take part in either the "Retire Your Ride Program" delivered by Summerhill Impact with financial support from the Government of Canada, or Summerhill Impact's "Car Heaven Program". To qualify for the "Retire Your Ride Program": which offers $300 cash or rebate on the purchase of a 2004 or newer vehicle, customer must turn in a 1995 model year or older vehicle in running condition (able to start and move) which has been properly registered and insured for the last 6 months (12 months in B.C.) to an authorized recycler. To qualify for the "Car Heaven Program", customer must turn in a 2003 model year or older vehicle in running condition which has been registered and insured for the last 6 months to an authorized recycler. If a customer qualifies for Car Heaven or Retire Your Ride, Ford of Canada ("Ford") will provide an additional Rebate, with the purchase or lease of an eligible new 2010/2011 Ford Vehicle, in the amount of $1,000CDN [Focus (excluding 2011 S), Fusion (excluding 2011 S), Mustang (excluding Shelby GT500 and 2011 Value Leader), Transit Connect, Ranger (excluding 2011XL)], $2,000CDN [Taurus (excluding 2011 SE), Escape (excluding 2011 XLT I4 Manual), Edge (excluding 2011 SE), Flex (excluding 2011 SE), Explorer (excluding 2011 Base models), Sport Trac], or $3,000CDN [F150 (excluding Raptor and 2011 Regular Cab XL 4x2), F250-550, E-Series, Expedition] (each an "Eligible Vehicle"). Rebate amount may be used as a down payment or received as cheque from Ford, but not both. Taxes payable before Rebate amount is deducted. RYR Rebates are available to residents of Canada only excluding Northwest Territories, Yukon Territory, and Nunavut. Eligible Vehicle must be purchased, leased, or factory ordered during the Program Period to qualify for a Rebate. Rebates can be used in conjunction with most retail consumer offers made available by Ford at either the time of factory order or delivery, but not both. Rebates are raincheckable. Rebates not available on any vehicle receiving CPA, GPC, Commercial Connection, or Daily Rental Rebates and Commercial Fleet Incentive Program (CFIP). Limited time offer, see dealer for details or call Ford Customer Relationship Centre at 1-800-565-3673. © 2010 Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited. All rights reserved. †† NO PURCHASE NECESSARY. Open only to legal residents of Ontario who have reached 18 years of age. Five (5) prizes will be awarded in Ontario consisting of one (1) new 2011 Ford Fiesta SES 5 Door Automatic with Winter Safety Package (approx. retail value of CDN $21,929 based on MSRP) and four (4) $1000 cash prizes. Odds of being selected as a finalist are solely dependent on the total number of ballots received. Odds of winning the vehicle prize as a finalist are 1 in 5. Contest closes Dec. 18/10. Skill-testing question required. Prize may not be exactly as shown. See dealer for full contest rules.

▶ Jim Sutrgess

Heartless
Jim Sturgess stars as a melancholy photographer (who is marred by a heart-shaped birthmark, hence the title) who must navigate through a darkly shot London, which is being ravaged by demons.

Undertow
Being billed as a gay ghost story, this acclaimed film (and Peru's official Oscar selection) follows Miguel, a married soon-to-be father and fisherman who is having a secret love affair with another man. His lover accidentally dies and comes back to haunt Miguel who is then forced to openly deal with who he is.

Bhutto
This documentary, which has been making rounds at festivals around the world, takes a close look at one of the most captivating characters of our time: the assassinated Benazir Bhutto, the first woman to govern a Muslim nation. Elected after her father's death, she fought against political corruption and radical Islam.

DOROTHY ROBINSON AND MARIE-FRANCE PEREL

Sure, there's some Oscar bait hitting the screens this time of year, but there are also sequels, remakes, adaptations and recycled material
We take a look at which ones might actually have a chance

More deja vu at the movies

The Tourist (Dec. 10)
The original French film, Anthony Zimmer, was critically acclaimed but flopped at the box office. Then again, it didn't star Angelina Jolie. Or Johnny Depp. Or Angelina Jolie and Johnny Depp.

TRON: Legacy (Dec. 17)
"There are no guarantees about TRON. It's a sequel based on a cult film," says film critic Dave White of Movies.com. "They're anticipating a huge audience who never heard of the original — and Daft Punk fans."

Yogi Bear (Dec. 17)
"Yogi Bear is essentially in the Alvin and the Chipmunks' spot," says Brandon Gray, publisher of BoxOfficeMojo.com. "It would be surprising if they could repeat that success. I don't think Yogi Bear is as popular a property as the Chipmunks."

Gulliver's Travels (Dec. 22)
"Jack Black has a mixed track record. Gulliver's Travels seems to want to be the new Night at the Museum, but it'll probably be closer to Bedtime Stories, which was the last movie that tried to be the next Night at the Museum," says Gray.

Little Fockers (Dec. 22)
This seems a little out of left field. "The sequel wasn't as highly regarded as the first. That, combined with the amount of time that has passed, might mean that this is where the franchise hits the wall," says Gray.

True Grit (Dec. 25)
It doesn't necessarily matter. Coen brothers fans are deterred by nothing, and Matt Damon and Josh Brolin will bring the rest. Wait, TRON star Jeff Bridges is in this one, too? Merry Christmas to all.

5 top guilty-pleasure movies of all time

We all have movies we secretly adore, ones that are so bad, they're good. These are movies that set out to be dramatic, thrilling or inspiring but just ended up feeling gratuitous, campy or crappy.

And so, with the release of the Christina Aguilera bump-and-grindfest Burlesque, here are the five most irresistible guilty-pleasure movies. You'll hate yourself for loving them.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showgirls (1995)

Well, of course. We'd be remiss if we didn't start here. It would be an egregious error along the lines of mispronouncing Versace as Ver-SAYCE.

Director Paul Verhoeven and writer Joe Eszterhas' film is the gold (sequined) standard for shlock, complete with catfights, lesbian make-out sessions, sleazeballs and lots and lots of skin.

As aspiring Las Vegas showgirl Nomi Malone, Elizabeth Berkley insists she's not a whore, she's a dancer, so many times it could be a drinking game, and Gina Gershon is a fabulously over-the-top predatory villain.

Showgirls is the dubious winner of eight Razzie Awards, including worst picture of the decade. It would be nice to borrow Nomi's catch phrase — "It doesn't suck" — except it does.

Xanadu (1980)

I have such fond memories of this movie from childhood. I'd sing along with the songs on eight-track and I wanted to be Olivia Newton-John.

Do you blame me? She was so pretty and her blonde, feathered hair always looked perfect and she could sing and roller skate at the same time.

Only in retrospect did I realize that, huh, this movie wasn't particularly good. Sadly, the story of a Greek muse who inspires an artist (Michael Beck) to follow his dreams by building a giant roller disco rink also happened to be Gene Kelly's last film.

But Xanadu has been reinvented in recent years as a Tony Award-nominated Broadway musical, which lovingly sends up the film's exuberant cheesiness. Plus, Magic and Suddenly are still beautiful songs. There's no shame in liking them.

Grease 2 (1982)

This is probably something I shouldn't admit, but here goes: I know every word of dialogue and every lyric to every song in this movie. (It was on cable a lot that summer.)

The world didn't need a sequel to Grease, of course. Everything seemed to wrap up satisfactorily there at the end.

But in part two, Sandy's British cousin, Michael (Maxwell Caulfield), transfers to Rydell High and is immediately ostracized because he's educated and has an accent.

Grease 2 teaches us to transform ourselves into something we're not to be accepted by the popular kids, and to do it in song (which, come to think of it, Grease preached, as well).

You cannot possibly turn away from a young, pre-Scarface Michelle Pfeiffer as the leader of the Pink Ladies, singing about her fondness for biker bad boys and dancing awkwardly in Cool Rider.

Point Break (1991)

Too soon? Patrick Swayze only died a year ago, but this is a prime example of his effortless masculinity on display.

And nearly two decades before she'd win Academy Awards for best picture and best director for The Hurt Locker, Kathryn Bigelow was making gratuitous, visceral action films like this.

The fact that Keanu Reeves plays an undercover FBI agent named Johnny Utah pretty much tells you all you need to know.

He falls in with a group of surfers suspected of robbing banks, who don masks of U.S. presidents to pull off their heists; Swayze plays Bodhi, their leader.

Lotta gorgeous people wearing very little clothing, interspersed with intense chase scenes and shouting matches. But the best line of all comes when Johnny lets Bodhi evade capture by diving into his watery death: "Vaya con Dios, brah."

Mommie Dearest (1981)

The hair. The eyebrows. The tantrums. Faye Dunaway's larger-than-life portrayal of Joan Crawford is the stuff of kitschy legend.

Nominated for nine Razzies, it won five, including worst picture and worst actress for Dunaway.

Based on the memoir of the same name by Crawford's daughter, Christina, Mommie Dearest depicts the screen legend as an abusive, mercurial egomaniac who adopted two kids to humanize her diva image — and then made their lives hell.

As a young girl, Christina is forced to fix drinks for her various "uncles" in the evening and scrub the bathroom floor in the middle of the night. And we don't even have to mention what happens if wire hangers turn up in the closet. There's no point in taking any of this seriously — just wallow in the camp.

Huston plays the villian

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Actor Danny Huston has been having a lot of fun playing bad guys lately, and his latest, the genre-bending martial arts-meets-Old West the Warrior's Way, has him sinking his teeth into one of his baddest. Huston sat down with Metro to chat about ninjas in the Old West and getting back to directing.

You seem to be enjoying yourself playing bad guys.

I enjoyed myself on this. The highlight for me really was the sword action sequence with Kate (Bosworth), which was shot over about four days. That was just, from a choreography point of view, very exciting, physically demanding and a lot of fun to do.

Villains seem to be the meatier roles in big movies.

I would go along with that, but also our hero is complex in this story. It has a wonderful sort of zen balance to it, this film, which I suppose is indicative as to where it comes from.

The hero, in a way, has renounced violence. Our heroine needs violence to conquer her demons.

But the violence in this film, for me personally, it's so exquisite, so beautiful to look at, that it loses its violent impact. Unlike another film I did called the Proposition that was written by Nick Cave, which was very violent — a few people are killed in it.

But this is on another level. It's a ballet. It's Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon. It has a beauty to it, which allows it to be quite accessible and ultimately not about violence but about love.

Martial arts in the Old West is an interesting mix.

I didn't know quite how the ninjas, all of that was going to work. It at times confused me, to be quite honest. But it's almost like an opera.

There's a silence that Kurosawa and Ford shared, in your protagonist not necessarily having to express or emote his emotions, but for them to be contained.

And Sergio Leone did the same thing, and I think our lead in this picture, our warrior, is extremely good at stillness and at being able to convey emotion without having to act it.

Who would win in a fight, you or Kate?

Kate's pretty damn good. She's very athletic, she's quite a crafty little swordsman.

I also felt a little brutish from time to time because I am so much bigger. If I landed a punch or hit her with one of those blades, which are big, with my weight behind it I could really hurt her. But if she started fighting with me, I think I would just lay down and let her do whatever she wished.

Will you be returning to directing soon?

I'm developing a film called Day of the Dead, which is based on a novel by a guy named Kent Harrington. I've been optioning this book for 10 or 15 years. It's become a bad, costly habit.

So I've got to get this thing made, and I'm looking to start production on it hopefully next year. I'm itching to get back in the saddle and direct again.

Brody sues makers of thriller for salary

Adrien Brody says he was reluctantly forced to sue the makers of a thriller film because they failed to pay his full salary.

U.S. District Judge Dale S. Fischer on Monday blocked the sale or use of Brody's likeness in Giallo until the Oscar winner's remaining salary is paid. The judge noted in her ruling that the actor was likely to prevail in his $2 million lawsuit against the filmmakers.

"At no point did I ever wish to be involved in a legal dispute, but after over a year of attempting to resolve this matter I was left with no other alternative," Brody said in a statement.

The actor sued Hannibal Pictures and U.K.-based Giallo Productions Ltd. in October, shortly before Giallo went on sale in the U.S. In a sworn declaration, Brody claimed the filmmakers lied to him about the movie's financing and how much its Italian distribution rights were worth.

The picture was shot in 2008 in Turin, Italy, and Brody is featured prominently on the DVD's cover.

Brody said he was grateful for the ruling. "I am greatly appreciative of the court's ruling which protects me, and shows support for all artists who have been manipulated and taken advantage of by unscrupulous employers," his statement said.

▶ Adrien Brody

According to the lawsuit, he agreed to defer some of his salary payments for Giallo after its producers informed him the film was having financial problems. As a concession, Brody was given the ability to withhold his likeness from the movie unless he was fully paid, and he is still owed $640,000, according to the suit.

His attorney, Evan Spiegel, said in a statement that the filmmakers "attempted to prey on Mr. Brody's professionalism and generosity." Spiegel said Brody agreed to defer his salary so that fellow actors and the film's crew could be paid.

Movie review

A classic not worth retelling

Nutcracker 3-D
Genre: Action/Fantasy
Director: Andrei Konchalovsky
Stars: Ellen Fanning, John Turturro, Nathan Lee

Why not celebrate the holidays with a yuletide tribute to the holocaust? That seems to be the attitude of the creators behind this disastrous 3-D adaptation of The Nutcracker that transforms the mouse king into an Andy Warhol wig-sporting fascist with labor camps. The film is misconceived on nearly every level and should only interest audiences hungry for an expensive failure (even the iconic Tchaikovsky music has been transformed into pitiful songs). Chunks of the movie are clearly missing, making it seem like the producers realized they made a stinker and tried to save it in the editing room. They should have just burned the prints and moved on.

PHIL BROWN

Vision
Genre: Drama
Director: Margarethe von Trotta
Stars: Barbara Sukowa

You'll need night vision glasses to watch Margarethe von Trotta's interesting but hopelessly murky Vision, a truth-based account of 12th century nun Hildegard von Bingen. A playwright, composer, forward thinking and homeopathic healer, she is portrayed as a trailblazing habit-clad feminist. But for all the wonders of this woman's life on display, the film is so dark and joyless that sitting through Vision becomes akin to a kind of cinematic self-flagellation.

Waste Land
Genre: Documentary
Director: Lucy Walker
Stars: Vic Munoz
●●●½
There are some sticky, complicated ideas at play in Lucy Walker's smoothly — if conventionally made — documentary, which follows Brazilian painter Vik Munoz as he collaborates on an art project with the employees of the world's largest garbage dump in Rio de Janeiro.

Besides examining the fraught relationship between artist and subject — is it art or exploitation? — Waste Land works on an almost abstract level as a visual exploration of a blasted, trash-filled landscape as well as an indictment of Brazil's brutal class disparities.

ADAM NAYMAN

Cool It
Genre: Documentary
Director: Ondi Timoner
Stars: Bjorn Lomborg
●●
Cool It presents Bjorn Lomborg as the only scientist in the world with the courage to stand up against the establishment and provide simple solutions for global warming. But it isn't very convincing. Lomborg is clearly a charismatic figure who has seduced legions of followers, but there's nothing to suggest he has the right answers. His theories are interesting, but no less tested or practical than the ideas he wants to tear down. It is little more than another well-produced study of an over-examined issue.

PHIL BROWN

Made in Dagenham
Genre: Drama
Director: Nigel Cole
Stars: Sally Hawkins, Miranda Richardson, Bob Hoskins
●●½
Like Billy Elliott before it, Made in Dagenham has that feel-good empowerment vibe so beloved by Elton John and West End musicals producers.

It's got it all, an adorable lead (Hawkins) who discovers her passion in an equal pay beef, a firebrand politician fuelled by sexual politics (Richardson), a feminist union rep with a heart of gold (Hoskins), and buckets of good cheer. It's the story of Rita O'Grady, who led a women's strike against the Ford plant in Dagenham England in 1968 when it was important to specify "women's" strike.

DRUGS PLAY STARRING ROLE IN THE MOVIES

We've all heard those disclaimers at the end of pharmaceutical commercials: "May be harmful to humans if swallowed the most common side effects are temporary eyelid droop nausea decreased sweating avoid contact with skin." Usually they sound like one long breathless sentence that seems scarier than the disease the drugs are meant to prevent.

A new film, Love and Other Drugs, starring Jake Gyllenhaal and Anne Hathaway as a pharmaceutical salesman and the girl he loves respectively, forgoes the disclaimer. In what almost seems like a 90-minute ad for Viagra, it appears that the drug's — Vitamin V, Jake calls it — only side effect is that it works too well. It is the rare movie that uses a real brand name drug as a plot device.

Even though the odd movie like Prozac Nation dares to name names, often filmmakers use fictitious drugs to advance their stories (and avoid lawsuits from the notoriously litigious Big Pharma). But even in fantasy side effects abound.

Brain Candy, the 1996 Kids in the Hall comedy, created a cure for depression called GLeeMONEX that "makes you feel like it's 72°F in your head all the time." Unfortunately the pill's patients also turn into comatose zombies.

David Cronenberg devised Ephemerol, a tranquilizer used as a morning sickness remedy for his film Scanners. Side effects? Telekinetic and telepathic abilities.

Later, in Naked Lunch, Cronenberg featured the more recreational drug Bug Powder, a yellow dust formally used by exterminators, informally by people looking to find a "literary high."

In Repo! The Genetic Opera, Paris Hilton's character Amber Sweet was addicted to a blue, glowing opiate extracted from dead bodies called Zydrate.

An alternative cinematic painkiller is Novril, the pills that kept James Caan sedated in Misery.

SUBMITTED

▶ Anne Hathaway and Jake Gyllenhaal in Love and Other Drugs

Filmmakers don't just fictionalize pharmaceuticals, however. Plenty of recreational drugs get the Hollywood treatment. Remember Space Coke from Cheech and Chong's Next Movie? One snort was enough to send both Cheech and Chong literally into outer space.

A Clockwork Orange was chock-a-block with fake drugs; everything from Drencrom to the synthetic mescaline Synthemesc to Vellocet, which produced ultra-violent tendencies and sudden outbursts of Singing in the Rain.

Sell Out! a moral conundrum

Yeo Joon Han cheerfully spoofs notion of artistic purity ● Witty, off-kilter songs add to entertainment value

In Malaysian filmmaker Yeo Joon Han's ingenious debut Sell Out!, a young engineer must choose between obeying his bosses and placing a profitable flaw in his new invention or remaining true to his principles.

"I got an offer to make a commercial, mainstream film," says Yeo. "At the same time, I had been wanting to do something more personal. I wasn't sure what to do, so I decided to make a movie about what I was going through — the choice about whether or not to sell out."

This moral conundrum is played brilliantly in the film, which also functions as a satire of reality television (the female lead is a journalist whose show feature interviews with people on their deathbeds) and a caustic critique of corporate ethics (or lack thereof) which integrates a series of musical numbers into its satire of bottom-line corporate thinking.

At the same time, Yeo

The new spirit of holiday movies

After a year that churned out "Jonah Hex," "Cop Out" and "The Box," no one is expecting Hollywood to explore the true meaning of the holidays or whatever helps angels earn their wings. But without even a Santa flick or slapstick mistletoe romcom, we've got to wonder — how is Hollywood planning to cash in this year?

It could be that, in 2010, audiences are too cynical about the season — or just queasy from hearing "White Christmas" since October.

"People are getting sick of the commercialization of Christmas," says Wheeler Winston Dixon, professor of film studies at the University of Nebraska.

"The few fairly recent iconic Christmas movies are mostly sarcastic takes on the holiday, as in 'Scrooged' and 'Deck the Halls'; films in which the holiday is something to be endured, rather than celebrated."

"Hit them with easy, recognizable stuff..."
FILM CRITIC DAVE WHITE

But film critic Dave White of Movies.com doubts that anything you see over the holidays — whether heart-warming or satirical — is related to audience demand.

"Hit them with easy, recognizable stuff that they already know," he says of the studios' strategy of sending out remakes and sequels. "That's where the money comes from. Whether or not there's a demand for 'Little Fockers,' it doesn't matter. That's how they do things at Christmas."

cheerfully spoofs the very notion of artistic purity (his protagonist splits into two selves, one of whom clings blindly to optimism).

"I had to make compromises," he says. "I have to keep the audience entertained even as I'm trying to do other things."

The witty, off-kilter songs, written by Yeo himself, contribute mightily to the entertainment value.

"I like musicals, but I also like the idea of a musical made by someone who doesn't like them, and has to be dragged kicking and screaming into doing it," he laughs. "So the staging is a little bit anti-musical comedy."

In the most memorable scene, lyrics to an emotional ballad flash on the screen, imploring the audience to sing along — despite the fact that they've never heard the melody before.

"When musical numbers start, a lot of people just switch off. I wanted to do something that would intensify their engagement. If there are lyrics on the screen, it's like they're being challenged to make an effort."

Burton defined by film, not art

- Bell Lightbox unveils Tim Burton: The Exhibition
- Director's feature creatures reveal innocence

The good news about Tim Burton: The Exhibition at the Bell Lightbox is TIFF organizers' plan to define it in film terms and not as an art show as was the case at the Museum of Modern Art in New York where it originated last year.

Even better news, ironically enough, is the potential for the Lightbox exhibition — starting Nov. 26 and looking to attract some 100,000 people — to better help us understand the filmmaker's art roots.

In placing Burton in a cinematic context, TIFF frames expectations about Burton's art as it frames the art itself. This is how it should be. After all, he was a kid growing up gloomily in Burbank, Calif., who worked four years for Disney directly after graduating from the California Institute of the Arts in 1979. It would be a much bigger Burton biographical surprise if the drawing whiz hadn't ended up involved with film.

His drawings — plentiful and consistent, but not his strongest suit — reveal his debt to such print-based cartoon innovators such as Edward Sorel, Dr. Seuss, Edward Gorey and Ralph Steadman. Burton's Untitled (Reagan) (1980-1990), a slashed-on fretwork of ink and watercolours on paper, comes directly from the Steadman playbook.

Burton is not unique. Many directors draw. Scene after scene in just about any Alfred Hitchcock film was sketched out beforehand in Hitch's meticulously etched storyboards.

Burton is better than most, though and is a highly accomplished craftsman in an industry that prizes craft highly. The Nightmare Before Christmas puppets are remarkably detailed, almost obsessively so.

These feature creatures — along with his sculpture, video shorts and the like — also reveal a never-ending innocence of the imagination that's rooted in Hollywood film culture while being much less in evidence beyond Hollywood.

In a contemporary art context, Burton seems to have been entirely untouched by deeper artistic impulses swirling through art in Southern California in the late '60s and '70s, where a vast array of new materials — ceramics, plastics and technologies connected with the boom in aerospace businesses — were employed for entirely new sorts of painting and sculpture.

To Los Angeles's emerging new art crew, such as minimalist sculptor Larry Bell, the film business was old hat.

They were plugged into car culture, surfing, rock 'n' roll and avant-garde performance.

Meanwhile, Burton was at Disney refining his young person's vision of childhood as a sexless playground, with lots of yucky goofing off, and making friends with cool heroes like Vincent Price, who narrates the director's 1982 kung-fu television adaptation of Hansel and Gretel.

It's a vision ready-made for Hollywood's incessant demand for eternal youth and lost innocence.

Through his artwork, Burton morphed into his very own Hollywood creation — Peter Pan, the man-boy director, surrounded by the creepy cartoon figures he drew: Stainboy, Robot Boy or Jimmy, "the hideous penguin boy" — soon to be replaced by child-channelling actors such as Paul Reubens and Johnny Depp.

Cee-Lo finds his stride as a solo-artist with The Lady Killer Had labels' blessing on viral hit

CAM LINDSAY
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

THE CANADIAN PRESS/CHRIS YOUNG

▶ Singer Cee Lo Green poses for a photo in a hotel as he promotes his new album The Lady Killer in Toronto on Monday, Nov. 22, 2010.

You always hear about artistic differences between artists and record labels, but if Cee-Lo Green knows anything, if you have the right song a label will back anything. He should know, he's the guy who presented Elektra with a song called F— You. According to him, they didn't even bat an eyelash.

"I've been giving my label a lot of credit," he says from the penthouse of a posh boutique hotel in Toronto. "There was just a unanimous 'yes' about this record, all throughout the building as soon as they heard it. With a title like that you can safely assume where it wouldn't work as opposed to where it would, but they never gave up on this record."

"It's simply carrying on ... There was no extended agenda, there's just more music in me. This particular creative direction I had yet to showcase, this more sensitive, sexual, romantic side. And I thought it was the right thing to do."
CEE-LO GREEN

Of course, a compromise was made in order to achieve this success. His label felt the song's title and chorus would need to be cleaned up for mass consumption. But Cee-Lo was more than willing to co-operate.

"Initially we did all of these alternative versions like Forget You, Eff You, I Could Have Loved You, Bump You, so we were prepared," he explains. "My credibility and integrity are in tact," he says. "There is a younger, adolescent audience that we would like to have as much of our material accessible to. But there's still the original, explicit version for adults."

This treaty between artist and label has made Cee-Lo one of the most ubiquitous artists of 2010. Having previously tasted success both as an MC with Southern hip-hop crew Goodie Mob and a singer in the Danger Mouse collaboration Gnarls Barkley, The Lady Killer, his first new solo album in almost seven years, finds the booming crooner at his most accessible. Cee-Lo says returning to his solo work happened naturally.

"It's simply carrying on," he says. "There was no extended agenda, there's just more music in me. This particular creative direction I had yet to showcase, this more sensitive, sexual, romantic side. And I thought it was the right thing to do."

You know you've got a massive hit when...

How popular is Cee-Lo's F— You, exactly?

Well, just recently Gwyenth Paltrow of all people sang the song on Glee, which in turn made it a top five hit. Cee-Lo has given it his seal of approval. "I thought it was cool and they asked so soon, which gave confirmation of what the song was becoming," he says. "Gwyneth did a great job. The song doesn't belong to me anymore, this is everyone's song."

WILL HOLIDAY ALBUM SALES BE SAVED BY KANYE/PEAS?

For people whose livelihoods depend on selling CDs, this Black Friday comes in a bleak year. Sales are down at least 11 per cent from last year and even digital music sales have reached some kind of ugly plateau.

The fourth quarter of 2010 has been almost devoid of the big-name releases and breakout hits that can draw millions into record stores in the weeks leading up to Christmas.

Sure, there have been a couple—Taylor Swift's Speak Now is the only certified smash having sold a million copies in its first week—but there's been little else to celebrate. Who might come to the rescue?

Certainly not rock records because there's been a dearth of those. The ones we've seen—Kings of Leon, Linkin Park and Weezer, to name a few—have failed to deliver monster sales. So it's up to pop, hip-hop and R&B to close the sales gap.

Kanye West should have an excellent week thanks to the reviews he's getting for My Beautiful Dark Twisted Fantasy, a CD that received an almost unheard-of 10/10 from the ever snarky Pitchfork. Expect it to be a healthy No. 1 debut when the numbers come out next Wednesday.

It's back to the Justin Bieber well again for My Worlds (Acoustic), out today. It's essentially a re-recording of My World 2.0 and should do well after the Biebster's showing on the American Music Awards last weekend.

Tuesday, the Black Eyed Peas issue The Beginning, the follow-up to stupidly successful The E.N.D., the same day as new albums from Flo Rida and Soulja Boy hit shelves. That should provide an interesting three-way race.

AP PHOTO/CHRIS PIZZELLO

December 7 is also noteworthy with the release of No Mercy from T.I., who is again serving time in prison. That kind of street cred usually translates into sales.

The biggest wildcard of the season will come December 14 with the release of Michael, the posthumous Michael Jackson album.

Or is it? Members of the Jackson family have openly questioned whether that's all Michael's voice on the album or just samples of the real thing cleverly blended with sound-alikes.

Maybe 2011 will be better. At least rock fans will have lots to choose from in January and February.

Deep reunion

Influential Toronto rockers Lowest of the Low get back together for pair of shows Putting differences aside to celebrate 20th anniversary of debut

NICK PATCH/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ron Hawkings (left) and Stephen Stanley of Lowest of the Low.

Founding member of Lowest of the Low Stephen Stanley says relations within the group were once so tempestuous that if they hadn't broken up, someone in the band might have died.

He says this over coffee, sitting next to the band's frontman, Ron Hawkins in a cafe in Toronto. It may sound dramatic, but he fails to crack a smile.

"It's not even really a joke," says Hawkins. "It was really bad."

"It just got crazy. If we just put out our records ourselves and never got involved with anybody else, we might have lasted an year and a half. We were always in a van," adds Stanley.

It seems somewhat surprising that after a failed reunion in 2004 the band will be playing a pair of shows in Toronto to celebrate the 20th anniversary (and re-release) of their 1991 debut, Shakespeare My Butt.

"With this band functioning at its best, it would be a pleasure to make another record."
STEPHEN STANLEY

But watching the pair together nearly two decades years later, it seems as though much of the ill will that stifled Lowest of the Low's potential has been locked in the past.

"The first time we broke up was quite horrible," Stanley says. "We were young and there was a lot of petulance and a lot of bottled up anger from everybody spending probably nine-tenths of the year together in a van. The second time...it was very organic. Now, it's just kind of a pleasure to come back to."

Hawkins and Stanley both say they have mixed emotions on their most successful work. Even when playing solo, audience still want to hear tracks from Shakespeare.

Despite their tumultuous history the band mates are leaving future possibilities open and would consider releasing more music together.

"It's funny, I think we might have got all the fighting out of our system back in the day," Stanley said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Highs and lows

The band formed in 1991 out of the ashes of a group called Popular Front.

They turned down shows with Bryan Adams and The Barenaked Ladies because they weren't fans and see the appeal in playing larger venues.

From State Attorney to IRA gunrunner

Titus Welliver: A Tuesday mainstay on Sons of Anarchy and the Good Wife

Titus Welliver knows how to mix it up.

On CBS' legal drama The Good Wife, he stirs the pot in his recurring role as State Attorney Glenn Childs, a sleek political beast now waging an election battle against prior officeholder Peter Florrick (Christopher Noth) while regularly butting heads with Peter's attorney-wife (series star Julianna Margulies).

That's not all.

Appearing opposite himself in the same time slot (Tuesdays at 10 p.m. EST), Welliver this season has raised Cain on FX's motorcycle-gang actioner Sons of Anarchy.

He plays Jimmy O'Phelan, a cold-blooded Irish Republican Army gunrunner who will stoop to anything, including child abduction, to get the job done.

Last spring, in the final episodes of ABC's Lost, Welliver clashed with his twin brother as The Man in Black, bringing human form to the mysterious force - aka The Smoke Monster - that had propelled the show's mythology since its earliest days. (He was unprepared for the reaction by Lost fans:

The day after his first episode aired, he dropped by his neighbourhood Starbucks "and several people looked like they might expire from excitement," he marvels.)

Now, he speaks hopefully of making an appearance in Luck, HBO's upcoming drama from Milch, whom Welliver calls "a father figure to me." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bristol Palin Dances with politics

Her run on Dancing with the Stars fueled by politics, pluck, sympathy and courage Got more votes during the week Sarah was in the audience

A shadow political campaign or an attagirl for a struggling amateur?

Bristol Palin's success on this season's Dancing With the Stars defies easy explanation. Either way, Bristol has something to brag about if talk at the Palin dinner table turns toward vote-getting ability.

Just like her mom, Sarah, and her campaign for the vice presidency two years ago, however, Bristol fell short at the end.

She finished third to champion Jennifer Grey of Dirty Dancing fame during the ABC competition's two-hour finale Tuesday. Runner-up was Disney Channel star Kyle Massey.

Palin's march, shimmy and cha-cha to the finals put Dancing With the Stars, of all programs, into the nation's political cauldron.

Clearly, Bristol drew support from many people who admire her mother, who frequently appeared in the show's studio audience to root for her daughter.

Bristol said Tuesday that if she won, "it would be like giving a big middle finger to people who hate my mom and hate me."

Sarah Palin supporters helped organize campaigns to keep her daughter on the show, like radio talk host Tammy Bruce's Operation Bristol. Conservative blogger Kevin DuJan's Hillbuzz.org website also led a get-out-the-vote effort and wrote after Tuesday's results that Palin "drove the Left crazy for three months. Score!"

Bristol's success only intensified the spotlight on Sarah Palin to an extraordinary degree for an out-of-office politician, largely in ways that have nothing to do with politics.

Besides the Dancing With the Stars exposure, Palin's TLC series about Alaska is in the midst of airing, and she has a new book due out.

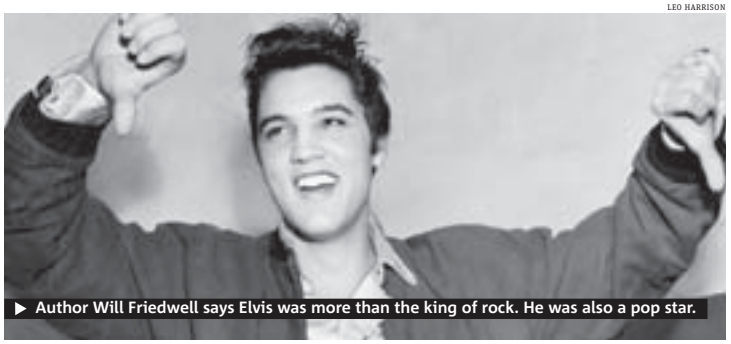
LEO HARRISON



Author Will Friedwell says Elvis was more than the king of rock. He was also a pop star.

Hitting the write notes

According one author, Elvis — the king of rock 'n' roll — was more of a pop singer than we may think

ADRIANA RIVERA
LIFE@METRONEWS.CA

Music criticism may not always be the most fun reading material on which to get your hands.

But that changes when it's written by Will Friedwald.

Friedwald passionately and entertainingly chronicles some 300 artists — the masters of jazz and popular music — in his new book, A Biographical Guide to the Great Jazz and Pop Singers.

"The idea was to talk about the singers who have done the American Songbook and place them on a level playing field.

"I didn't want to make divisions between so-called jazz singers and pop singers and Broadway singers," Friedwald says about bringing together various genres.

"They can all sing the same song, but it sounds completely different. It sounds like an individual statement from each one of them."

WILL FRIEDWALD, ON WHAT MAKES THE LEGENDARY JAZZ AND POP SINGERS SO ICONIC

But the biographical histories of these iconic American musicians are not limited to those of the past.

It's artists such as Jamie Cullum, Michael Bublé and Harry Connick Jr. who represent the newer side of the musical spectrum, according to Friedwald.

"Music is going in all kinds of directions," Friedwald says.

"There's a lot of great contemporary people out there."

Friedwald also includes an extended section in the book containing short biographies of musical greats from other genres such as rock 'n' roll, blues, gospel, country and folk rock.

"One of the conclusions I came away with was that Elvis was more of a traditional pop singer than you might think.

"Obviously, he was the king of rock 'n' roll, but he was the last one in the continuity of Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra."

A Biographical Guide to the Great Jazz and Pop Singers was released this month to very positive reviews.

A book that seals the deal

After suffering through horrid romantic situations, Marisa Pinson and Dave Horwitz pen their deal breakers

ADRIANA RIVERA
LIFE@METRONEWS.CA

We've all been there — sitting at a restaurant across from a creep, a cougar or a narcissist who still lives with his parents. The lucky ones get all three.

In Dealbreaker: The Definitive List of Dating Offenses, authors Dave Horwitz and Marisa Pinson analyze these bad dates to create a hilarious list of "dealbreakers."

Their list features insight from both of genders of daters in their 20s.

"It's a pretty authentic glimpse into an entirely new generation of dating.

"Our book really accurately represents people in their 20s in the dating world," Horwitz explains.

Horwitz and Pinson met while performing sketch comedy in Los Angeles.

After both suffering through terrible romantic situations, they decided to share the tragedy of their dating lives on a blog.

"I think of the blog as non-stop jokes.

"But when we had the opportunity to write a book, we figured this has to be a little more than just jokes," says Horwitz on the difference between the two.

The book also follows the life cycle of a relationship from the first date all the way through to to the breakup.

"The more you know nobody's perfect, the more you can have a successful relationship — or even date."

So what's Horwitz's final piece of advice for those who are also in the trenches?

"Give someone a chance. If you can find a way past the dealbreaker, then you can find something special."

Avoid at all costs

Dave Horwitz shares his Top. 3 dealbreakers

- You're a bad kisser
  "It's my No. 1."
- You sit on the same side of the booth
  "Marisa assures me it's proably the worst thing you can do."
- You don't like Prince
  "It may seem minor, but it's really important. If you don't like Prince, you can't hang out with me.
- You can't hang
  "It's basically saying if you can't relate to my friends, I can't see us together."

Looks like the force wasn't with the owner of a Darth Vader costume this week. An original Star Wars costume, believed to have been made for The Empire Strikes Back, failed to sell at Christie's Auction House.

The suit is estimated to be worth around $250,000 to $365,000 US — but the auction was stopped when less then that amount was offered as a final bid, reported the Associated Press.

Couple breaking up all the time Rodriguez likes his single life status

Despite reports of a split earlier this month, Alex Rodriguez and Cameron Diaz were spotted getting very cozy at a private L.A. club this week before heading to Miami together, according to Us Weeky.

"Cameron was holding his hand and nuzzling him," a source says. "They break up and get back together all the time."

But getting Diaz to see him again reportedly wasn't easy.

"He cut things off from her and she was really hurt," a source tells Hollywood Life. "She wasn't looking to get married or anything, but Alex has a wandering eye and wanted to see other people. But, he missed her. Cameron is really a lot of fun and Alex always had a good time with her." METRO

Cheesecake that's more than dessert

Blue cheese and less sugar give this cheesecake real presence at the end of your meal

The goal — liberate cheesecake from the dessert course. And it was easier than we thought.

While rich, creamy cheesecake is a fine way to end the meal, we didn't think it had to be sweet to do so.

We wanted a savoury cheesecake, one that could finish the meal as a cheese course. And so we cut the sugar and substituted blue cheese for part of the cream cheese.

And since blue cheese pairs so nicely with fruit, we added a topping of pears poached in red wine and balsamic vinegar.

Blue Cheese Cheesecake with Cabernet Caramelized Pears

LARRY CROWE/ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ This cheesecake is exceptionally rich. Serve it in small slivers.

Ingredients:

Crust
- 250 ml (1 cup) walnuts
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) sugar
- 250 ml (1 cup) all-purpose flour
- 2 ml (1/2 tsp) salt
- 10 ml (2 tsp) ground black pepper
- 90 ml (6 tbsp) butter, melted

Filling
- 2 pkgs (each 250 g/8 oz) cream cheese, room temperature
- 250 g (8 oz) strong blue cheese, such as roquefort
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) all-purpose flour
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) sugar
- 3 eggs

Pears
- 4 fresh, firm pears such as Bosc
- 375 ml (1 1/2 cups) Cabernet Sauvignon
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) balsamic vinegar
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) sugar
- Pinch salt

Preparation:

1. Start to finish: 6 hours (45 minutes active) Heat oven to 180 C (350 F).

2. In a food processor, pulse together walnuts, sugar, flour, salt and black pepper until walnuts are the size of small peas. Add butter and pulse until mixture is just moistened. Press mixture into bottom of a 25-cm (10-inch) springform pan. Bake for 15 minutes or until golden around the edges and fragrant. Leave the oven on.

3. While the crust bakes, mix the cake filling. In the bowl of a stand mixer, combine cream cheese, blue cheese, flour and sugar. Mix on medium-low until well combined, scraping down the sides of the bowl several times. Add eggs, one at a time, beating and scraping the bowl in between until eggs are thoroughly incorporated.

4. After crust is baked, pour filling into pan and bake for another 30 to 40 minutes or until the centre just barely jiggles when you shake the pan and the top slightly puffs. Remove from oven and set aside to cool to room temperature, about 1 hour. Refrigerate for at least 4 hours (and up to 2 days) before serving.

5. To prepare pears, peel pears, then cut each half lengthwise. Scoop out and discard core.

6. In a deep saute pan, combine wine, vinegar, sugar and salt. Bring mixture to a simmer and add pears, core side down. Allow mixture to simmer until liquid is syrupy and pears are caramelized and tender, occasionally basting pears with liquid, about 20 minutes. Set aside to cool to room temperature.

7. When ready to serve, run a knife around the edge of the springform pan to loosen cheesecake. Remove sides of pan. If desired, run a long spatula under the crust and slide the cake onto a serving plate. Top cheesecake with caramelized pears.

Christmas without the mall

An abbey in South Carolina displays nativity scenes from around the world

The holiday season arrives early each year at a Trappist monastery on a quiet bluff upriver from Charleston, S.C.

In what has become a Christmas tradition, the monks of Mepkin Abbey, even before Thanksgiving, display dozens of creches from around the world.

This year, an estimated 5,000 people are expected to visit the abbey at Moncks Corner, S.C., about 45 minutes northwest of Charleston, for the annual Mepkin Abbey Creche Festival.

This year the festival, which is free but for which reservations are required, opens Nov. 15. On display are 73 nativity sets made of everything from clay and ceramic, to porcelain, wood, straw, and sticks and lichen.

Most have never been displayed before. The creches come from everywhere — from Mexico and Guatemala to Kenya and Upper Volta to Korea.

Much of this year's collection is that of Jean and Alexander Heard. Alexander Heard, who died last year, became a creche collector after once making a nativity set from plywood. He served as chancellor of Vanderbilt University in Tennessee from 1963 until 1982.

"There is something about the creche that just touches people in a deep place."
REV. GUERRIC HECKEL

Mepkin was founded in 1949, although nearby Moncks Corner has nothing to do with monks and was named for Thomas Monck, a local landowner.

Set under whispering oaks overlooking the Cooper River, the abbey includes a chapel, the Clare Boothe Luce Library where the festival is held, a store and gardens.

Rev. Guerric Heckel said the monks didn't set out to have annual festivals. It started when he was manager of the abbey store in 2003.

"I thought that if there is a place where someone ought to be able to purchase a decent nativity set, it's in a monastery store," he said. "I got a little carried away and went out and ordered $5,000 worth of nativity sets."

It was then the abbey decided to display creches. That first year the monks displayed 10 of their own with 20 on loan from a Boston antiques dealer.

"About 1,500 people came to see it," Heckel said. "We knew we were doing something that people really responded to."

Now the monastery has about 500 creches in its collection and people are increasingly donating them to the monks.

"There is something about the creche that just touches people in a deep place where they live," Heckel said. "Sometimes people will get teary-eyed in the store talking about the one their father used to put under the Christmas tree or the one they used to play with as a kid."

A brief look at the onslaught of holiday video games

KEITH CARMEN
TORONTO@METRONEWS.CA

Flashing lights, opened boxes, dazzled young eyes bouncing with excitement, flailing hands and cherubic glee. All of these are signs of one annual event that establishes our financial/familial obligations, time-wasting duties and indoor activities: Video game season, a time known to the collective masses beyond post-secondary school as Christmas.

While such a tongue-in-cheek jab at the commercial aspects of a major holiday seem cheap, consider that as every gaming creator, retailer and advertiser gears up for what is their busiest season, there's nothing inexpensive about Yuletide.

Nor is there much lacking as upcoming holiday game releases spanning everything from sports, fantasy and first-person action to mind puzzles for every kid from two to 92 asserts. At that, here are a few potential options to flesh-out a stocking, update a collection or offset a new console such as Sony's PlayStation 3 (PS3), Microsoft's Xbox 360 or Nintendo's Wii.

With a heavy push on 3D gaming this year, many companies are lauding their latest dimension-warping offerings such as sports hero Shaun White's Skateboarding (Ubisoft, all platforms) which allows gamers the opportunity to incite creativity amongst avatars, thus saving the world from a Big Brother-inspired corporation bent on eliminating individualism.

Those looking to keep their finger-tapping honed might opt to request EA Games' latest instalment of the NHL series. Hitting number 11, the franchise (PS3/Xbox 360) is still hot, not unlike Sony's own Gran Turismo 5 (PS3) which offers a parade of cars waiting to be put through the ringer by armchair race enthusiasts. On the more gruesome end of the spectrum, first-person shooting game Time Crisis: Razing Storm is one game to feature PlayStation's new Move, a motion-sensing game controller similar to Wii's module.

If something a touch less aggressive is imperative, Disney's Guilty Party (Wii) is an endlessly engaging single/multi-player investigative crime solver, film tie-in Tron: Evolution (Disney, all platforms) drops just in time for the movie's theatrical release and in keeping with their own stellar legacies, the onslaught of musician wannabe games offer new batches of interactive fun via DJ Hero 2, Guitar Hero: Warriors Of Rock (Activision, all platforms) and its rival Rock Band 3 (Harmonix).

Keeping it personal

Not all systems are monolithic slabs taking up space in the entertainment unit. Represented just as readily this holiday season, handheld systems have some new treats for the solitary gamer.

Nintendo DS: This year's craze? Nostalgia. Both Intellivision and Atari license their greatest hits on one cartridge each, Mario vs. Donkey Kong Mini-Land Mayhem features our favourite gorilla-jumping plumber and Michael Jackson: The Experience has you-know-who teaching dance moves.

PlayStation Personal (PSP): EyePet lets us raise a digital monkey in photos of our real world, confront deities as warrior Kratos in God Of War and grapple without skinned knees on WWE SmackDown vs. Raw 2011.

Livescribe Echo Smartpen
4GB, $170 8GB, 200
Livescribe makes pens that record audio and match it up with what you're writing. So people taking notes during a presentation can get away with jotting down keywords and then going back and listening to the conversation. Available at Apple stores.

Microsoft Arc Touch Mouse
$50
This mouse lies flat when not in use, but, with one satisfying click, can be bent into a curved shape, making it look more like a standard mouse. Light and low-maintenance, it turns off automatically whenever you press the mouse into a flat shape. Available at Best Buy, Future Shop, Staples.

Apple iPad
$629-$829
Although ads for the iPad often depict someone relaxing with the tablet, it is an ideal companion for people on the go as well. True, you can surf the web and watch movies on a phone or laptop, but the iPad's 9.7-inch display makes for easier viewing. Available at Apple stores.

Klipsch Image S4 headphones
$99
Travellers will find comfort in the S4's small, tapered ear buds. They're sturdier, and they block out some ambient noise. As a bonus, the buds come with a metal carrying case and a tool to clean off earwax. Available at Apple stores and Bay Bloor Radio.

iGo Laptop Travel Charger
$100

Every laptop comes with a power brick, but this one, made by iGo, is easier to take on the road and works with a variety of Windows-based laptops. It comes standard with a cigarette-lighter adapter. Not compatible with Macs. Available at Staples.

Holiday decor

A list of Do's and Don'ts, from trimming your tree to following trends from HGTV to you

It's easy to go overboard when decorating for the holidays, but with a few Do's and Don'ts your holiday decor can be the hit of the season. So before you unpack the ornaments, string the lights and trim the tree, take note of these tips, courtesy of HGTV's 30 Holiday Decorating Hits and Misses.

Do

Spend money on what people will see (a wreath for the door), not on something that will get lost in a sea of ornaments or in a large display.

Don't

Over decorate the tree. You want to ensure that the branches are visible and the shape of the tree is evident. The best way to avoid overcrowding the tree is to put on three to four ornaments and take a step back.

Do

Set the mood with candles. They soften modern and contemporary spaces and set a great atmosphere.

Don't

Leave decor dead spots. Don't just decorate the room the tree is in. Consider incorporating holiday decor throughout the house.

Do

Go bold with colours. Don't be afraid to use colours other than red and green. If neutral tones are more your taste, have a white Christmas and use all white and silver to decorate.

Don't

Leave the dining table naked. You don't want to neglect the place that everyone sits around. A festive dining table sets a great tone for a holiday dinner.

Do

Repurpose existing decor. Look at what you have and reinvent it. Use this as an opportunity to be creative.

Don't

Be too trendy. You want to make sure your decorations are an investment and not something you dispose of at the end of the season.

Do

Get tied up in ribbon. The great thing about ribbon is that it's inexpensive and delivers a big impact.

Don't

Make your home look like a museum. Perfection can make your home unwelcoming and the holidays are a time to feel cosy and warm.

HGTV's 30 Holiday Decorating Hits and Misses airs Saturday. Check your local listings for times.

Diamond in the rough

Blue Jays have some holes to fill in their lineup, but GM sees plenty of ways to make team better, with or without acquiring any new players

J.P. Arencibia may take on a bigger role behind the plate next season.

The Toronto Blue Jays are unsettled at both corners of the diamond, behind the plate and in the bullpen but Alex Anthopoulos isn't worried right now because he sees a host of ways to fill his team's needs.

Last off-season, the general manager struck early to plug holes at shortstop and catcher by signing Alex Gonzalez, John McDonald and John Buck. This fall, he's able to take his time a little bit more because he's got more internal options to fall back on if external opportunities don't pan out.

Two of those, Adam Lind at first base and J.P. Arencibia catching, sounded more likely to happen Thursday when Anthopoulos had lunch with members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America's Toronto chapter.

With a young staff in 2010, one of Anthopoulos's primary concerns was providing as strong a defence as possible to help save his young arms pitches and stress. Given the experience they gained this past season, he's more willing to sacrifice some glove if it means more bat.

"That's fair to say and the key is in certain positions," said Anthopoulos. "You might be able to not place as much importance on it because (the young pitchers) have been through it more and they may not need as much help. I still think you'd like to have somebody back there (at catcher) who can handle a staff and run a game, but with the year of experience, I think you can take the reins off a little bit with those guys."

While that came off as a nod to Arencibia, he also seemed to somewhat open the door to Lind, who logged 76 innings at first base after not playing there since college. Anthopoulos praised Lind's hands while adding that his footwork needed to improve, and conceded that he's more willing to take a chance on a permanent move.

"If you would have done something like that last off-season, it would have been a total guess. Even though it's a small sample size, you've (now) seen something to grab hold of," said Anthopoulos. "I don't think anyone can definitively say Adam Lind can play first base over the course of a full season, there's an unknown there.

"And maybe there is a component where you say we're going to take that chance, we're going to roll him out there and see what we have. We haven't made that determination, but I wouldn't rule it out."

Buck's departure as a free agent leaves Arencibia and Jose Molina as the primary in-house catching options for the Blue Jays, though free agent Miguel Olivo was offered arbitration ahead of Tuesday's midnight deadline and remains in play.

First baseman Lyle Overbay was not offered arbitration and is unlikely to return, with Lind the best internal candidate for the position.

Home run king Jose Bautista remains a possibility to fill the hole at third base but his arm makes him more valuable in right field. Still, outfielder Rajai Davis, the only addition of significance so far this off-season, allows the Blue Jays to go that route if they choose.

Their third base problems were nearly solved by Dan Uggla before the Marlins turned down a Blue Jays offer and sent the second baseman to Atlanta instead. Uggla would have pushed Aaron Hill to third, and shifting the second baseman over is still on the table.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jose big winner

- Jose Bautista may have finished fourth in balloting for the American League MVP award but he was a big winner in the Blue Jays team honours announced Thursday by the Toronto chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.
- The major-league home run king was a unanimous pick for player of the year, and also picked up the most improved player honour plus the John Cerutti Award, given to a person associated with the club who displays the goodwill, co-operation and character exemplified by the late pitcher.

Giggy joining Leafs on the road

Goalie J.S. Giguere is going to accompany the Maple Leafs on their two-game road trip to Buffalo and Ottawa this weekend and is eyeing Tuesday's game at home to Tampa as a possible return from a strained groin.

Giguere worked out for the second straight day and said he wants to go with the team so he can face some shots.

"If I had a weekend of practice ahead of me I'd say (I could return) Tuesday, but it might be before that, might be after that," said Giguere. "Sometimes your body might be ready but you have to be sure your mental aspect of the game is ready. That comes with making saves in practice.

"I'm going to go on the road. Practise with the team in the pre-game skate. I want to start getting shots from the guys. I couldn't do that staying here. I think it's time for me to step it up and try to get some shots."

Jonas Gustavsson is expected to start both games, Friday in Buffalo and Saturday in Ottawa. He has been stellar in replacing Giguere midway through the third period on Nov. 16 against Nashville.

"I'm happy for Jonas," said Giguere. "He's been working hard and deserves the success he's been having. Fortunately for our team we have a guy who can step up if a guy gets hurt and do the job.

"I'm still going to take it day to day."

Captain Dion Phaneuf did not skate and emerged from the Leaf locker-room at the MasterCard Centre to chat with a few school kids before leaving again for treatment.

Colby Armstrong skated by himself for about 45 minutes, taking shots to test his left hand. A tendon ripped off his middle knuckle on Oct. 26 against Florida. It was his second day gripping a stick with both hands.

"I've been pretty excited the last couple of days to be handling a stick instead of skating straight lines by myself," said Armstrong, still about two weeks away from returning to action. "I've got a pretty good grip and I've got a splint that helps. We're working on range of motion.

"I've got a little blister in my hand. I went soft a little bit. We're working through that. I'm excited to be handling pucks."

Brady's bunch of TDs lift Patriots

Quarterback throws a season-high four TDs to carry Patriots over Lions

PATRIOTS	LIONS
45	24

Tom Brady was perfect on the field and his exit was first class.

Brady threw a season-high four touchdown passes, all in the second half, and the New England Patriots routed the Detroit Lions 45-24 on Thursday after trailing by 11 late in the second quarter.

"We showed some resiliency, coming out in the second half and playing the way we did when the crowd was into it," Brady said.

Following Brady's brief news conference, the former Michigan star jogged out of Ford Field — limping slightly up a steep ramp — hugged Robert Kraft and got into an idling limo with the team owner behind a police escort.

New England (9-2) moved a half-game ahead of the AFC East rival New York Jets — who played Cincinnati on Thursday night — for the NFL's best record, setting up a showdown at home Dec. 6.

"I don't think we're at where we need to be at," Brady said.

"But this is a tough group."

No one in the red, white and blue is tougher than Brady.

After taking a ton of shots early in the game, the three-time Super Bowl winner and two-time MVP bounced back to complete 21 of 27 passes for 341 yards with no interceptions, giving him a perfect quarterback rating of 158.3 for the second time in his career.

"He's like a surgeon," Detroit centre Dominic Raiola said.

Brady threw a go-ahead touchdown pass to Deion Branch early in the fourth quarter after connecting with him on a 79-yarder to tie it at 24.

THE LOU MARSH DEBATE IS ON

Field of Play

SCOTT RUSSELL

The debate over Canada's athlete of the year is about to heat up.

In a season where the Olympics were held on home turf, passionate arguments will be made for a legion of remarkable competitors who stake a claim to Lou Marsh Award consideration.

Time to stoke the fires and stir the pot.

Joey Votto, the National League's MVP, has slugged his way into front-runner status. Steve Nash of the NBA carried the Phoenix Suns to the Western Conference Final with a great playoff run. Sidney Crosby had another fine campaign for the Penguins and scored the "Golden Goal" for Canada at the Olympics. Boxer Jean Pascal is the world light-heavyweight champion. Georges St-Pierre, the mixed martial artist, is the UFC welterweight kingpin.

On the amateur side, ice dancers Tessa Virtue and Scott Moir won Olympic gold in figure skating, then pushed on to claim the world championship title in Turin. Christine Nesbitt, the speedskater, took Olympic gold, dominated the last world-cup season and hasn't lost a race this season. Erik Guay won the Super-G title on alpine skiing's world cup, a first for a Canadian since Steve Podborski in 1982.

"Joey Votto, the National League's MVP, has slugged his way into front-runner status."

Alexandre Bilodeau deserves consideration for delivering the historic first gold medal by a Canadian on home soil when he tamed the moguls at the Olympics.

How about Heather Moyse?

Who?

It's not so far-fetched.

The 32-year-old native of Summerside, P.E.I., teamed with Kaillie Humphries to win Olympic bobsleigh gold in Whistler. As the brakeman for Humphries, Moyse also won four medals, including gold, in the world-cup season and set push-start records. Then, in the summer, she traded her helmet for cleats and scored seven tries as a winger for Team Canada at the Women's Rugby World Cup in England.

Not a bad year's work.

"I just know that I would always rather be on the ice or field competing than on the sidelines," Moyse said via email.

"I've never considered myself to be a driven two-sport athlete. ... I've just been a driven athlete in whatever sports I'm doing at the time."

Which is why there is an Island argument to be made in this Lou Marsh debate.

Why not?

In a year marked by so many great performances, there's so much for Canadian fans of sport to be thankful for.

Swimsuit scandal

Singapore has rebuked its national water polo team for wearing swim trunks that feature an "inappropriate" likeness of the city-state's flag. The trunks, which were designed by members of the men's team currently competing in the Asian Games in Guangzhou, China, show the flag's white crescent moon jutting up from the groin area with five stars to the side on a red background. Grey Cup preview

Grey's anatomy

Metro's CFL columnist Dan Toth breaks down the matchups for this Sunday's Grey Cup final, where Montreal will face Saskatchewan

Offence: Alouettes

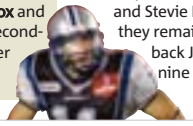
Alouettes quarterback Anthony Calvillo is a finalist for the league's Most Outstanding Player Award. Calvillo also owns two Grey Cup rings. He gives the Als an edge.

Offence: Roughriders

Saskatchewan QB Darian Durant is in just his third season as a starter, albeit in his second consecutive Grey Cup. Durant led the league in passing with 5,542 yards as well as attempts and completions.

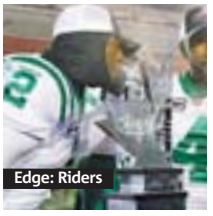
Defence: Alouettes

Teams are successful passing against the Alouettes but not rushing the ball. Defensive ends John Bowman and Anwar Stewart along with linebackers Chip Cox and Shea Emry can stop the run. The Als secondary surrendered 291 passing yards per game, second worst in the league.



Defence: Roughriders

The Roughriders had the second-worst run defence in the CFL this season but field one of the best pass defences. Despite losing John Chick and Stevie Baggs to the NFL after last year, they remain a formidable force. Defensive back James Patrick led the league with nine interceptions and Barrin Simpson had a CFL-best 104 tackles.

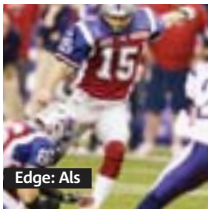


Special teams: Alouettes

The Alouettes had 2,807 return yards this season. Montreal's Tim Maypray was third in return yardage and can boast three returns for touchdowns this season. Montreal kicker Damon Duval is a veteran punter and placekicker.

Special teams: Roughriders

The Riders did not return any kicks for a touchdown. Riders kicker Luca Congi is out for the season leaving inexperienced Canadian Warren Kean to kick field goals.

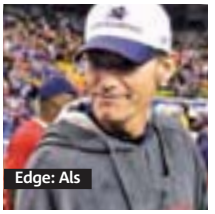


Coaches: Alouettes

Montreal head coach Marc Trestman insists his players have to think of Sunday's game completely removed from last year's game. "We don't look at it as a rematch or a repeat. It's a completely independent event with two completely different football teams."

Coaches: Roughriders

Saskatchewan coach Ken Miller is adamant his team isn't looking for redemption after last year's shocking Grey Cup loss to Montreal after a too-many-men penalty. "I've found through the years that (revenge) is a very poor motivator that's based on emotion, not on intellect."



Are Alouettes a team of destiny?

Everything seems aligned for the Montreal Alouettes heading into the Grey Cup game.

Montreal finished the season atop the East Division to secure a first-round playoff bye with many figuring the club would have its hands full in the conference final if it met up with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

After all, Hamilton dismantled the Alouettes 40-3 on Oct. 22 in a game that featured both teams' starting players.

So the thinking was Hamilton would dispatch the Toronto Argonauts in the semifinal, then head to Montreal full of confidence and be a real handful for the Alouettes. Well, it didn't happen as Toronto beat the Ticats 16-13 before bowing out to the Als 48-17 in last weekend's division final.

That secured Montreal its eighth Grey Cup appearance since 2000. The expectation was the Alouettes would face the Calgary Stampeders, who posted a CFL-best 13-5 record to finish atop the West Division.

But again, fate seemingly intervened as the Saskatchewan Roughriders upset Calgary 20-16 in the West Division final to advance to a Grey Cup rematch with Montreal on Sunday.

So Montreal finds itself in yet another CFL title game without having to overcome its two biggest hurdles, leaving some football pundits to suggest the Alouettes are a team of destiny this year.

As a result, Montreal opened as a seven-point favourite over Saskatchewan, much like last year when the Alouettes were solid 9½-point picks over the Riders.

The two teams split their games this season, with Saskatchewan winning a wild 54-51 overtime decision to open the 2010 campaign. Montreal countered by winning the second meeting 30-26 five weeks later.

Anthony Calvillo outplayed Darian Durant in last year's Grey Cup game, rallying Montreal from a 20-10 deficit heading into the fourth. Calvillo finished 26-of-39 passing for 314 yards and two TDs while Durant was 17-of-29 for 201 yards and a touchdown but also two interceptions.

1 Gainer the Gopher — the beloved mascot of the Saskatchewan Roughriders — is persona non grata at the provincial legislature. Premier Brad Wall, an avid Riders fan, says that's because Gainer visited the assembly last year and then the Riders lost the Grey Cup in a heartbreaking finish to the Montreal Alouettes.

2 Canadian rock band The Trews will play the national anthem before the game. Canadian music legends Bachman & Turner will perform at halftime. Down With Webster will perform during the pregame show.

3 On Sunday, only three Alouettes will have the distinction of having stepped on the field for all eight championship appearances with the club: Quarterback Anthony Calvillo, slotback Ben Cahoon and offensive lineman Scott Flory.

4 Roughriders head coach Ken Miller and Marc Trestman of the Alouettes both said during the Grey Cup coaches news conference Wednesday they're leaving the issue of whether to engage in sex prior to the game up to their players.

Thanesha, it it wasn;t for you I would have no idea what true love really means. I am happy you are my wife, friend and lover. Love you always. WARREN XOXOXO

Happy Quarter Century Ron!! Can't wait to party tonight. Love you all the way to the moon and back. Haha. LOVE, THE GINGER.

Mark, Words cannot express how much I love you. You are my soul mate and I am looking forward to sharing our lives together. M.

Adam, I'm looking forward to solving the daily crossword with you. We'll keep it classy! LOVE, EMMA <3

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to play@metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Do you trust your ideas? You should do, because you are head and shoulders above everyone else in your ability to imagine the future.

♉ Taurus April 21-May Your star is very much on the rise at the moment and when Venus, your ruler, changes signs early next week you'll be flavor of the month with just about everyone.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 Don't let anyone try to convince you that certain targets are beyond your abilities to reach. They know it isn't true, which is why they are trying to convince you it is.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Something you are told today will ring true even though you would prefer not to believe it.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 The Sun in your fellow Fire sign of Sagittarius promises that you will get what you want no matter how many people try to stand in your way. You're a Leo. You're a winner.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 A feud that has been dragging on for some time is beginning to wear you down, so why not end it?

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 If your aims and ambitions are a bit vague now is the ideal time to sit down and decide what it is you want and how you intend to get it.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Today's aspect between the Sun and your ruler Pluto will boost your confidence in some small but significant way and before you know it you will be moving in a new direction, one that's really quite exciting – and profitable too.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 You have complete and utter faith in your own abilities. The idea of failure will not enter your mind at any stage today. With that kind of self-belief you can move mountains. Moving other people though might be more of a challenge.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 You're in one of your "leave me alone" moods today, and if friends and co-workers have any sense they will stay out of your way for a bit.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 No matter how good your latest idea may be you still have to get out there into the marketplace and sell it to the people who matter. Email ten contacts whose backing could make you a star. Do it right now.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 You are now within touching distance of a goal you have been working towards for many months, but for some reason you are suddenly scared. Why? Fear of failure is one thing, but fear of success? Get over it – it's coming. SALLY BROMPTON
